

"We've seen things like mapping , audio visual services, food services that were being in-sourced," said John Palatiello, of the Business Coalition for Fair Competition. "In the Defense Department when Secretary Gates was still in office, he put an end to in-sourcing, because he found that it just wasn't saving money."

Read More at Fox News...